Senior DevSecOps Engineer (m/f/d)

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- We are seeking a highly skilled Senior DevSecOps Engineer with a strong background in software development, automated testing, or scripting. This role is key to enhancing our software development lifecycle through automation, secure coding practices, and multi-cloud deployment strategies. You have experience writing code and scripts that support three core areas: 1. Build Automation & Versioning: Development of scripts for multi-cloud and multi-OS environments (Linux/Windows) to build and version development branches using tools like Git.
- 2. Deployment & Environment Configuration:
- Automation of software delivery and deployment across development, QA, and production environments.

WHO YOU ARE

- You have a Bachelor's degree or higher in Software, Electrical, or Computer Engineering (or 5+ years of equivalent experience).
- You bring 5+ years of experience in software development projects across multiple industries and teams.
- You have a working background in technical project teams.
- You are experienced with PMI methodologies and Agile frameworks (SCRUM, SAFe).
- You have strong planning capabilities for technical project execution.
- You provide hands-on experience with DevOps and Secure Development practices.
- You have a solid understanding of modern IT ecosystems, including infrastructure, networks, and cloud platforms.
- You are familiar with PMI, SCRUM, and SAFe methodologies.
