(Senior) Logistics Planner

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- In this role you support our customers in Assembly, Body Shop, and Paint Shop planning, depending on your expertise and experience. You will take responsibility for equipment concepting, provision system design, milestone-driven planning, and cross-functional coordination with internal stakeholders and external partners. Your responsibilities depending on your role and expertise:
- Support automotive OEMs as an onsite logistics planning consultant.
- Develop logistics concepts for Assembly, Body Shop, or Paint Shop.
- Define equipment needs (trolleys, racks, industrial trucks, charging systems, special equipment).
- Create layout drafts and material flow concepts.

WHO YOU ARE

- You hold a degree in Industrial Engineering, Logistics Management, Supply Chain Management, Mechanical or Automotive Engineering, Production & Operations Management or a similar field.
- You have a background in automotive logistics planning or industrialization projects.
- Strong conceptual thinking and ability to translate requirements into solutions.
- Confident communicator with experience in crossfunctional environments.
- Skilled in MS Teams, Excel, PowerPoint, and general planning tools.
- Structured, reliable, and able to work independently within client teams.
- Experience with material flow concepts and equipment planning.
- Familiarity with sequencing, KLT logistics, and tugger train systems (Assembly roles).
